

Joseph Malchow

247 HOLCOMBE WAY, LAMBERTVILLE, N.J. 08530
(908) 578-8070 · JMALCHOW@GMAIL.COM

EXPERIENCE

---

2008 to 2010 Cypress Semiconductor, SunPower Corp. San Jose, Calif.
C.E.O.'s Strategic Initiatives

From the office of chief executive T.J. Rodgers, wrote and advocated on a variety of subjects, including taxation, corporate governance, and securities law, in support of the policy preferences of a $2B chip company and a $2B solar company. Composed policy papers. Advised venture investors on policy.

Summer 2007 The Wall Street Journal New York, N.Y.
Robert L. Bartley Fellow

A Fellow on the Editorial Page, conceived, researched, wrote, and edited editorials for The Wall Street Journal, The Wall Street Journal Europe, and The Wall Street Journal Asia. Contributing writer to The Far Eastern Economic Review. Digital media consultant for Editorial Page properties. Retained as independent consultant to Dow Jones & Co. after returning to school.

2006 to present Malchow Group Palo Alto, Calif.
Founding Partner

A boutique consultancy delivering tailored revenue solutions to publishers of high-profile political and scholarly writing. Proprietary technology serves more than ten million monthly readers, including those of The Volokh Conspiracy and RealClearPolitics.

Winter 2005 Atlantic Legal Foundation New York, N.Y.
Writer

Wrote in support of the Foundation's positions on high profile cases, including Rumsfeld v. F.A.I.R., GEOD v. New Jersey, and Illinois Restaurant Association v. City of Chicago.

EDUCATION

---

2010 to present Stanford Law School Stanford, Calif.

2004 to 2008 Dartmouth College Hanover, N.H.

A.B. in Government; Minor in English; James O. Freedman Presidential Scholar.

Coursework in game theory, reason and argument, American politics, political theory, constitutional law; sponsored research in quantitative analysis of leadership attributes. English focus in post-war British fiction.

2000 to 2004 Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School Scotch Plains, N.J.

PUBLISHED IN

---

The Wall Street Journal, The Far Eastern Economic Review, National Review, The Manhattan Institute, The Wall Street Journal Europe, The Wall Street Journal Asia, The Dartmouth.

CHARITABLE ACTIVITY

---

Co-chairman Hoover Institution Rising Fellows Palo Alto, Calif.

Underwritten by The Board of Overseers of The Hoover Institution, the Rising Fellows program elevates superlative early-career professionals by building intimate and output-focused relationships with the economists, historians, philosophers, and writers at Stanford's Hoover Institution.

Please turn over.

CHARITABLE ACTIVITY, cont'd

---

Steering committee member                      The Federalist Society                      Washington, D.C.
The Federalist Society Silicon Valley chapter, a unit of the national organization, is committed to nurturing principles of individual choice and economic liberty in the U.S. tech sector. The Steering Committee strategizes deep and continuing engagement with investors, entrepreneurs, and lawyers.

Co-founding director                              The Champion Society                      New York, N.Y.
Supporting financially unadvantaged students admitted to New York City Catholic Schools but unable to pay. The first such organization to target one hundred cents on the dollar to the charitable purpose, and to do this through microscholarship-based giving.

INVITED SPEAKER

---

“Athena Roundtable on Higher Education.” The American Council of Trustees and Alumni.
Harvard Faculty Club, 10/6/06.

“Mass Communication for the Masses.” The Nelson A. Rockefeller Center for Public Policy.
Dartmouth College, 4/9/07.

SELECTED ARTICLES

---

“Dartmouth College, the Battle Over Parity, and the Legal Notion of Fiduciary Duty.”
With Harvey A. Silverglate. 9/4/09.

“Ivy-Covered Hedge Funds.” The Manhattan Institute for Policy Research. 10/3/08.

PROFILED IN

---

“No Ordinary Joe,” by Jake Tapper.                      Dartmouth Alumni Magazine.                      December 2007.

“Joe Malchow,” by Catherine Lowell.                      The Stanford Review.                      December 2010.

AVOCATIONS

---

Eighteenth-century Western art music, especially opera; American jazz standards and swing; high-fidelity audio; historical political elocution.

SELECTED ITEMS

---

— From 2008 to 2010, aided in growing Clos de la Tech, a California pinot noir winery, from experimental to market scale, including prevailing in land use disputes with the vineyards’ neighbors.

— Founded Dartblog.com, a running and unrehearsed reported editorial on life, politics, art, and the campus scene. Cited, from time to time, in all major newspapers; winner of America’s Future Foundation first-ever Best Undergraduate Blog contest, as judged by editors of The Atlantic, Reason, and National Review.

— At Dartmouth, worked with Professor of Government James B. Murphy to found The Daniel Webster Project in Ancient and Modern Studies, a nascent Great Books minor.

— From 2001 through 2004, served as on-air producer to the nation’s largest F.M. talk radio station, WKXW-FM, New Jersey 101.5, in Lawrenceville, N.J., covering state and national politics.

— From 1998 through 2001, founded and ran JetWare Software, a small software company producing the first freely available Palm OS-based productivity suite aimed at students. Feature article in The New York Times. (“They’ve Got the World in their Palms,” Catherine Greenman, 9/2/99.)